R. S. WHEATLEY YIELDS; PLANS BALLOT FIGHT

Surrenders County Engineer Post to Lloyd Kirk

REHEARING PLEA DENIED BY COURT

Announces He'll Be Candidate At August Primaries

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Robert S. Wheatley, Salineville Democrat, today prepared to surrender the Columbiana county engineer's office to Lloyd C. Kirk, of Lisbon, a Republican, following the state supreme court's refusal yesterday to rehear his case.

Kirk this morning announced that he will take over the office not later than tomorrow morning. The supreme court ousted Wheatley, who was elected in 1936, and re-instated Kirk, his predecessor on the grounds that Wheatley was not a licensed engineer at the time of his election. The job pays $4,080 a year.

Subordinates Lose Jobs
Kirk, at his home here this morning, said he would let between 35 and 40 of Wheatley's appointees go, although some of the "older heads" would hold their jobs. Wheatley, in a statement issued this morning, announced he was ready to surrender the office "temporarily" to Kirk. By saying temporarily, he meant that he would have his name placed on the ballots at the August primary for nomination again as county engineer.

The mandate of the supreme court was given to Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey here this morning. Wheatley's statement, issued shortly afterwards, is as follows: "The supreme court has based its opinion on Section 8 of the general code which states that an incumbent in an office continues therein until his successor is elected, or appointed, and qualified. In quoting this section the court omitted the words or appointed. The court held that I was not legally registered as a professional engineer on election day, ruling that the temporary permit from the registration board I held from the date of my application did not constitute a formal license.

"The election of 1936 was the first one in the history of the state of Ohio at which anyone was required to be licensed as an engineer and surveyor. Under this law county engineers in office were not required to be registered but anyone running against them were required to be licensed. Right now there are a number of county engineers serving who were elected at the election in 1936 and who are not licensed.

"I filed my application for a surveyor's license in January, 1935, and for an engineer's license in July, 1935, months before I had any notion of being a candidate. I have my license now but through delay by the registration board I was not formally licensed on election day, 1936.

"In looking over the list of engineers and surveyors licensed to

Formal Hearing By Lunacy Commission Is Last Bar To Freedom For Paul A. Wright

Convicted First of Manslaughter, Slayer of Wife and Friend, Held Innocent By Reason of Temporary Insanity

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Convicted of manslaughter, yet paradoxically held to be innocent of the slaying of his wife and his best friend because of temporary insanity, Paul A. Wright may walk out of court tomorrow a free man. The effect of a jury's verdict late yesterday, holding the former airport executive to have been insane Nov. 9 when he shot Evelyn Wright and John Kimmel, was to exempt Wright from the penalty for two counts of manslaughter—one to 20 years in prison.

The same jury of four women and eight men who convicted Wright of manslaughter said they believed he killed when temporarily deranged.

Wright's defense was that he suffered an emotional shock in finding his wife and Kimmel in what he claimed was an abnormal embrace. Today, a county lunacy commission, composed of four psychiatrists, will examine Wright. The commission's findings will be reported at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to Superior Judge Ben B. Lindsey. The noted domestic relations arbiter then will rule on Wright's status.

The examination is in the nature of a formality. Alienists who observed Wright during the four weeks of his trial testified they believed he was sane now. After announcing the verdict yesterday, Judge Ingall Bull made this statement: "It appears to this court that the defendant has regained his sanity, but I remand him to the custody of the sheriff until his sanity has been decided in the manner prescribed by law."

Salem Men Organize Engineering Firm

Charles T. Kennedy and Kenneth Jewell have opened offices in the Penney building under the firm name of Kennedy-Jewell & Associates, Engineers.

They are prepared to do all kinds of engineering and surveying, water and coal analyses, etc. and will sell equipment. They have their own well driller and equipment.

Both Salem men have had several years experience in the engineering field. Kennedy was in the employ of the city for seven years, five years as chief engineer at the sewage disposal plant and two years as service director. Prior to that he had 14 years experience as mining engineer. Recently he has been employed as assistant to the plant engineer at Mullins.

QUICK PASSAGE OF RELIEF BILL SEEN IN SENATE

Rush Consideration Today of $250,000,000 Appropriation

HOUSE APPROVES BY LARGE MARGIN

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Senators spurred by appeals to aid a half million new unemployed rushed consideration today of the $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation.

The house approved the fund last night by the top-heavy vote of 392 to 23. All efforts to make major changes in the measure were overridden. Only one amendment, barring relief to aliens temporarily in this country, was authorized.

Ohioans Approve
Ohioans cast no dissenting vote on the bill. The Ohio roll call included favorable votes by Democrats Alshire, Ashbrook, Claypool, Dixon, Crosser, Plegler, Fletcher, Harter, Harlan, Hunter, Imhoff, Kirwan, Lamneck, McSweeney, Sweeney, Seacrest and Thom, and Republican White.

Senate leaders expect to pass the bill Monday at the latest. There was a possibility they might be able to complete its consideration tomorrow, but the anti-lynching squabble may hamper such speedy action.

Leaders of the southern filibuster against the anti-lynching bill indicated they would oppose a temporary interruption to debate relief. Instead, they want the senate by a majority vote to lay aside the anti-lynching bill for the remainder of the session.

Although sponsors declared they would continue efforts to vote on the anti-lynching bill, they were disheartened by defeat yesterday of their motion to limit debate.

Most senators agreed the relief fund would be approved, although they said some effort probably would be made to increase the amount. The house killed, 189 to 71, a proposal by Rep. Voorhis (D., Calif.) to increase the appropriation to $400,000,000.

WPA to Administer Fund
The Works Progress Administration, which has on hand about $490,000,000 of its regular $1,500,000,000 appropriation, will administer the additional relief fund. The WPA has reported to congress that the money would keep at least 2,000,000 persons on the relief rolls until June 30.

Besides voting down the proposal to increase the fund, the house defeated efforts to put all expenditures for construction under the Public Works Administration, to hamstringing the bill by sending it back to the appropriations committee, to stipulate that none of the money can be used for political purposes, and to forbid any expenditures for buildings costing more than $25,000.

The principal criticism raised by opponents concerned not the appropriation but the general system of dispensing relief. This left little doubt that when the regular relief appropriation for the next fiscal year comes up, efforts will be made to force cities and states to bear a larger share of the cost.

Photography, As Hobby, Also Has Proved Itself Profitable

F. F. Wells compares early equipment and practices with "tools" and methods of today. Photography, as a hobby, has many followers. Discussions with dealers in films and photographic supplies in the city reveal a surprisingly large number of people interested in the art. Some follow only certain phases of photography while others specialize in no one branch.

Few hobbyists had their leisure-time interest suggested by their mother, but Franklin F. Wells has followed photography since the day his mother presented him his first cheap plate camera (a cardboard box affair used before the modern camera became popular) when he was about 11 years old.

400 In Snowbound Area Get Fresh Food

TAHOE CITY, Calif., Feb. 17.—Tahoe City's 400 snowbound men, women and children feasted today on fresh vegetables and meat, flown from San Francisco to relieve a diet of canned goods and, in the case of at least one man, horseflesh.

Five hundred pounds of foodstuffs were dropped on the golf course last night from a plane after a flight sponsored by a San Francisco newspaper.

HELP EXTENDED TO 400 FAMILIES

Scope of Red Cross Work Is Revealed In Annual Report

About 400 different families were given service of some kind by Salem chapter, Red Cross, during the last year.

This social service work cost the chapter $4,108, largely for medical attention, new and old clothing, miscellaneous relief, milk and other relief given in conjunction with city and township officials.

These facts, showing the vast amount of work taken care of by Salem's mercy chapter, are revealed in the annual report of Mrs. Myra B. Woodruff, executive secretary.

Membership Grows

Increasing interest in the work is evidenced by the growth in membership, the last roll call producing 3,439 members.

The loan chest, containing articles for the sick room, was used by 78 persons who borrowed 278 articles last year. The five hospital beds have been in constant use.

The sewing department, headed by Mrs. O. C. Juergens, was busy throughout the year but at present the chapter is almost out of boys' shirts as suitable material for shirts is gone.

Baby clothes were made by a sewing class under Mrs. Lulu McCarthy in Junior High school. At Christmas time her class dressed 16 dolls to be given away. The manual training class of the High school mended some of the toys. These gifts went to 219 children in 64 families.

Aid Ex-Servicemen

Twelve comfort bags were filled and sent to ex-servicemen in charge of the Veterans administration.

Life saving instructions constituted another activity of the chapter last summer, when ten passed the junior Red Cross life saving tests and one the senior.

The Red Cross had more Travelers Aid work than in previous years, Mrs. Woodruff reported.

Nursing service cost the chapter $1,558.70 last year.

WITNESS SAYS AID IS TRADED FOR CAR SALES

Lee Bradley Tells Probers Auto Firm Asked Half Of State Business

PLAN OUTLINED AT N. Y. MEETING

Governor Asserts Francis W. Poulson "Handles All My Funds"

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 17.—Lee Bradley, who identified himself as a campaign worker, told the senate investigating committee that General Motors Corp. had contributed $25,000 to Gov. Martin L. Davey's 1934 campaign on the understanding General Motors would get 50 per cent of the state's motor car business.

Conferred in New York
Bradley testified this arrangement was made at a conference in a New York hotel attended by Davey, Bradley and L. L. Trampler, whom the witness described as a representative of General Motors.

A four-hour conference was held in Davey's room at the Hotel Biltmore, Bradley said.

"What did you say?" asked James Metzbaum, committee counsel.

"We discussed the possibility of Davey's being a candidate for governor, and if General Motors would contribute to his campaign fund, and if they would favor General Motors with purchases."

Bradley said he did not want to give further details, explaining "I would rather have documentary evidence to back this statement up—it's dynamite."

Metzbaum, however, said the hearing was "informal" and asked Bradley to continue.

Bradley then disclosed the "50 per cent" arrangement.

To Split With Bradley

He testified he was to receive 10 to 20 per cent commission on all goods General Motors sold in the state and asserted Davey was to receive half Bradley's commissions.

Bradley, now a salesman for an asphalt company, told the investigation.

$4,000 Settlement Is Made In Suit

LISBON, Feb. 17.—In a settlement out of court, Mrs. Kittie Calvin of Calcutta yesterday was awarded $4,000 by the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., of East Liverpool, for personal injuries and damages to her home caused when a gas leak in the basement of her home caused an explosion and fire Feb. 12, 1936.

Mrs. Calvin had brought suit against the company, seeking $50,000 for personal injuries and $2,000 for damages to her home. Attorneys announced the settlement.

The explosion occurred when the plaintiff opened the furnace door and the accumulated gas exploded and caused a fire. She was burned and the house set afire.

TINKERING

The psychological effect of expanding an already over-expanded credit base by issuing up to $400,000,000 worth of certificates each year against new gold reserves acquired by the government is supposed to be good.

The psychological effect of tinkering with a sputtering automobile engine, twisting the set screw on the carburetor etc. is supposed to be good, too—but isn't.

That's because it's uncomfortably plain it isn't psychological effect the engine needs, but expert repair work. What the United States needs, correspondingly, isn't more credit but ability to use credit already available.

Adding up to $400,000,000 worth more credit a year is a hopeful gesture—like adding a pint of gasoline to a tank already full, but whose contents aren't being turned into horsepower.

WHAT FOR?

In the present interlude of war talk, when almost everybody is wondering how far the militarists are going to go with their latest spurt of preparedness, it is interesting to note what is happening to top drawer officers.

In Germany, dozens of them are being thrust none too gently into a none too welcome retirement and their places are being taken by younger men. Younger men are coming to the top in Great Britain, which is weeding out antiquarians as a Frank measure to get the army into fighting trim.

In the United States, aging generals are being replaced in numerous instances with younger men. This lends itself to interpretation of a move for greater efficiency, though it might be debated whether age is as much a handicap in war as ambitious younger officers like to think it is.

ADMIRAL GRAYSON

A neglected aspect of official Washington was opened briefly by the obituary for Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross and physician and counselor to many presidents.

Running beneath the surface of the official government is a current of unofficial persons little affected by frequent changes in the political group.

Inevitably, they have an effect on officeholders, who frequently look to them for guidance and advice. They are the fixed element of Washington's population. Politicians come and go; they remain.

Admiral Grayson, attached to the White House medical staff in 1907, served continuously till the end of Woodrow Wilson's second term. He enjoyed the respect of three Republican presidents in the decade before this one and under Mr. Roosevelt accepted appointment to the chairmanship of the Red Cross. The kind of invisible government he represented in Washington needs no apology.

FRESH START

In a manner reminiscent of "The Birth of the Blues," congress has taken a little of this and a lot of that, mixed them all together—and called it the Birth of a New Era of Assured Prosperity for Farmers.

The result is described alternately as the greatest farm bill ever passed and of the worst. It seems important that the law's success is said to be entirely dependent on its administration, which is an indication of dangerous elasticity in its terms.

The proof of the pudding—or the hash—will be the eating. Agriculture has opened itself to bureaucratic control in return for a promise of stability. If it gets only control without stability, the new law will fall under its own weight.

On the other hand, if agriculture gets stability with control, it is a safe bet farmers will be satisfied. That is the substance of the thought behind all central planning and the control which goes with it—that results will provide a satisfactory answer to criticism.

The original AAA and its industrial and business counterpart, the NRA, failed to produce results. New dealers now are trying again, with a new farm control act even more ambitious than the first one. Confident of no interference from the courts, they must feel that at long last the new deal is getting away to a fresh start.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, February 18

This may be a particularly active and progressive day, with much promise of growth, initiative and accomplishment, judging by a long chain of interesting astral configurations. Writings, contracts, speculations, investments, partnerships and finances should prosper, but this prosperous status may be complicated by reckless, quarrelsome deeds with legal involvements. Prudence and precaution are recommended; be wise in expenditures.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should take advantage of a year of splendid promise and opportunity. Finances should gain by investments, speculations, new contracts, writings, promotion and publicity, with enhanced personal popularity and prestige. But these may be jeopardized by rash, impulsive or quarrelsome conduct, which might have legal developments. Be wise, prudent, not extravagant or over-indulgent. A child born on this day may be exceedingly active, lively, energetic and ambitious, and should carve out a successful, progressive and prosperous career, with much personal popularity and prestige. It may be somewhat hampered by an impetuous, reckless and extravagant or indulgent nature.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "New York Day by Day" column, by Oscar Odd McIntyre, was prepared by the famous New York writer and distributed prior to his death.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Manhattan's oldest saloon is Billy's at 56th street and First avenue. It remains as it was when the original owner tapped the first keg more than 50 years ago. His son and grandson are now in charge and live upstairs, just as he did.

Billy's is strictly a neighborhood place. Folk bring buckets and pitchers to rush the growler as in the long ago. Over the side door is the familiar "Family Entrance." Gas lights flicker and there's a mammoth old brass-hinged ice box. Over in a corner shirt-sleeved regulars play seven up.

Karl Kitchen discovered Billy's and as a result of his write-up a lot of the Sutton Place boys with police dogs and betes began dropping in just for heck of it. But Billy's is not susceptible to the flattery of holly-toity trade. There is an impression it prefers catering to its own.

The Phil Stongs, novelists, go there, but not as celebrities. So do Watterson Rothacker and others whose identities mean nothing to the management. The familiar maitre d's before the huge base-burner and there is the bandy-legged "boy" of all work, whose age is indeterminable.

Renee Carroll continues in the role of queen of the hat-check girls, a sobriquet Broadway bestowed a dozen years ago. Red haired, vivacious, born Shapiro, she has done right well by herself as concessionaire at Sardi's, which has a mixture of theatrical and press agent clientele. In exchange for gay banter and that cherished accolade—not passing out redeeming checks to the right people—she probably gets as steady a flow of tips as anyone. First and foremost of the professional hat checkers were the three Susskind brothers, alert youths who began hat-checking at the Astor. They finally took over the privileges and extended them to almost every hotel and restaurant in the city. For a time each was rated a millionaire.

Note on high art: Nothing looks so flat and forlorn as a soufflé that doesn't, as Hanque Sell puts it, "sout". At one of the bang-up bazaars the other evening three soufflés collapsed on way from kitchen to table. Finally the headwaiter, interpolating his despair with a few Willie Howard shrugs, suggested something else be ordered. He confided that the pastry cook had finally tossed a tantrum and was toted home in hysteria.

It isn't often a temperamental head chef goes berserk before diners, but it did happen one dinner time at Delmonico's on the avenue. The heavily chandeliered room was loaded with distinguished guests—August Belmont, Harry Lehr, Whitney Warren, John Drew, among others. There was a sudden Comanche whoop from the kitchen, and through the pantry door rushed The Great One, rolling his eyes and beating his chest. He delivered a harangue in Italian on food in general and stuffed Egyptian squab in particular. He had just supervised the cooking of a huge platter of squab when a section of ceiling fell on it. It was too much for an artist.

Thingumbobs: Dr. Dafoe's bill to the Dionne family for delivering the quins was $10. . . Bob Reud, the press gent from Hickory, N. C., always sees Garbo off for Sweden. . . A platonic friendship. . . Harry Staton, syndicate chief, has not missed a circus opening in 15 years. . . Frank Case's son Carroll is the dramatic editor of the new Judge. . . Deems Taylor, for relaxation, reads histories of music.

Home made musing: I often wonder if the country doesn't need to hire someone who keeps a ledger like an old Vermont store keeper, up in the maple syrup belt. A crusty old codger who calls a spade a spade, isn't interested in new fangled unproved notions and will not try to convince one a wintry landscape is the vista of a South Sea Isle. Everybody talks. Nobody saws wood. And so few are recognizing that sound principles never change.

HEALTH

CLEAN HANDS

IMMACULATE FINGERNAILS and clean hands have always been factors in determining the social standing of the individual. But this sort of cleanliness is far more important for another reason: It is based on sound principles of sanitation.

Dr. Copeland

In ancient China, the long-pointed finger-nails signified birth. It is interesting to learn that in Egypt and other Oriental countries dyed finger-nails set royalty apart from the commoners. These things have quite a different significance now, haven't they? But proper care of the finger-nails and hands is a sign of good breeding and of an appreciation that cleanliness is essential for good health.

Gross Negligence

Habitual and constant lack of cleanliness is due to gross negligence. This is particularly true in relation to the hands and finger-nails. Neglect of this simple health precaution often leads to serious infections and the spread of contagious diseases.

An individual may have clean hands and yet permit his finger-nails to be in "deep mourning". He would be surprised if he knew the number of micro-organisms which would be revealed were this accumulated dirt examined under a microscope.

The necessity of keeping the hands and nails clean is of vital importance. Before beginning an operation the surgeons carefully scrub their hands and thoroughly clean the nails.

Our hands come in contact with dust and germ-laden objects. From them or by them these micro-organisms can be carried to the nose, mouth or face. It is not the dirt in itself that is harmful, but the bacteria that are found in the dirt.

Menace to Health

The rim of black beneath the fingernails is more than an indication of careless habits. It is a positive menace to health and may be the means of transmitting disease. Casual hand washing is not sufficient to rid the hands of bacteria. The hands must be scrubbed with a well-soaped brush and then rinsed in running water. The nails should be cleaned with a blunt-edged orange stick. This care of the hands should always be taken before meals.

This is a matter of importance to young children. They play in the mud and unknowingly carry germs to the mouth. These organisms are often harmless for the adult, but may prove dangerous to the young child.

The youngster should be taught the importance of clean hands at an early age. Discourage him from merely dipping the hands in the water and imagining that they have been washed. Awards may be given to encourage clean hands and fingernails.

Is This the Reason You Are Constipated?

If you're wondering why your bowels don't work right—stop and think about what you eat. Bread, meat, eggs and potatoes. All good nourishing foods—but all concentrated, lacking in "bulk." And you need "bulk." Some food that forms a soft, spongy mass in the bowels—helps them move.

If it's this lack of "bulk" that's causing your constipation, Kellogg's All-Bran is just what you need. It soaks up water and softens like a sponge. And this soft mass helps your bowels move. In addition, All-Bran gives you Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B. Eat this crisp crunchy cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and enjoy happier days. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

LEGION WOMEN PLAN BANQUET

Columbiana Auxiliary to Serve Dinner at Washington Fete

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 17. — The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Benjamin Firestone Post, American Legion, was held Wednesday evening, with a good attendance. The vice president, Mrs. Stewart Orr, presided and plans were completed for serving the Legion's annual Washington's birthday banquet next Tuesday evening.

About 100 local Legionnaires and businessmen are expected to attend. The unit president, Mrs. H. W. Lundgren, and Mrs. Orr were expected delegates to attend the mid-winter auxiliary conference at Columbus Feb. 26-27. County Legion Commander H. W. Lundgren gave a talk on the Legion legislative program and Mrs. Olive Holloway completed a travelogue started at a previous meeting, speaking mostly about her trip through India and China.

Mrs. Charles Roller, county chairman, will preside Friday evening at the monthly meeting of the county auxiliary council at Salineville. Lunch was served by Mrs. B. Calvin and Mrs. S. R. Lindsay.

Conclude Cage Schedule

The Columbiana High school basketball team plays the last game in its regular schedule Friday evening at the meeting of the late-coming floor in a Tri-County league game. The locals need a victory to end the league season with an even break, having lost to Boardman, Palestine and Sebring, while winning over Lisbon and Minerva. Last year Coach Wiant's lads won on easily, 50-19, but the Red and White has not done so well this season on foreign floors. "Sonny" Fisher, league-leading scorer, increased his mark to 213 points in games by scoring 22 points last week, 17 being against Pitch. He is held to five points at Sebring, a new low mark for him.

Mrs. J. C. Strubel presided Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society. F. J. McGahan had charge of devotions. Mrs. C. W. Griswold gave an interesting report on Stewardship and Mrs. C. P. Esterly a review of the book, "Mecca and Beyond."

The nominating committee, Messrs. Laurence Myers, W. B. Read and R. C. Dieffenbacher, reported officers were re-elected, as follows: President, Mrs. J. C. Strubel; vice president, Mrs. M. L. Forbes; secretary, Mrs. Virginia Felger; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Smith. Members are planning to attend the annual Presbyterian to be held at the Westminster church, Youngstown, March 17-18.

Entertain At Supper

The Men's club of the Christian church will entertain the ladies at chicken supper Friday at 6:30 p. m. at the church. Ralph Peterson and J. A. Todd are in charge of arrangements. The program includes special music and an address by Rev. N. B. Martin of the East Christian church.

The Priscilla circle of the Christian church is holding an all-day setting today at the home of Mrs. Emer Chip, East Duquesne st. A refreshment lunch was served at noon.

OLD AGE CLAIMS SHOW INCREASE

Lump-Sum Payments Certified At Rate of 942 Daily

Claims for lump-sum payments under the old-age insurance plan of the Social Security Act were certified during January at the rate of 942 per working day, the Social Security board announced today. Six months ago, in August, the daily rate was 165, from which it climbed steadily through September, October, November, and December, the successive average rates for each month being 363, 381 and 590.

During January a total of $745,000 was certified for payment to 108 claimants — workers who reached the age of 65 and the estates of workers who died. The average amount of each payment was $316.80, or almost double the $170.00 for all claims up to the end of August.

Miss Virginia with 2,929 headed the list with the largest number of claims certified, but the greatest amount of money went to New York where $97,175 was distributed among 2,768 claimants.

The largest claim that has been certified went to an employee who reached the age of 65. He received a lump-sum payment in January of $255. The largest death claim certified was for $420.

The government's old-age insurance plan went into effect on January 1, 1937. $2,023,207 has been paid for payment to 76,775 claimants. Each of the claims paid went to 3 1/2 percent of the wages paid to these wage earners.

Wm. V. Faulhaber, manager of the Youngstown office of the Social Security board announced that in January claims were certified for $745,000 for a total of $65,000 or an average of $316.80 per claimant. To date, the total number of claims certified in Ohio is 1,166 and the total amount of payments $166,151.13.

Theater Attractions

Ann Sheridan and Patric Knowles as they appear in "The Patient in Room 18" on the Grand theater's double mystery bill tonight.

An exceptionally fine cast in an excellent dramatic story of two south sea island lovers make the State theater's current attraction, "The Hurricane," an early bidder for honors as one of the year's best films. The picture shows tonight, Friday and Saturday.

It is a gala day on the island of Manukura in the south Pacific. Captain Nagle's (Jerome Cowan) trading schooner has just arrived from Tahiti. To Marama (Dorothy Lamour), beautiful daughter of the native chief, Mehevi, it is an exceptionally great occasion. Terangi (Jon Hall), her sweetheart, is first mate of the schooner. This is their wedding day.

At the residency, Administrator DeLaage (Raymond Massey) and his wife Germaine (Mary Astor) entertain the small group of European residents with a traditional dinner. Present are Father Paul (C. Aubrey Smith), devoted servant of the church; Dr. Kersaint (Thomas Mitchell), resident physician; and Captain Nagle.

United In Marriage
Father Paul unites Terangi and Marama in marriage. Stealing away from the ensuing feasting and dancing, Terangi and Marama spend their wedding night on the neighboring, uninhabited island of Motu Tonga.

The schooner's departure brings a separation to Terangi and Marama that is destined to be long and cruel. In a Tahiti cafe, Terangi is provoked into striking a drunken, quarrelsome white man. The man possesses political influence and Terangi is sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Determined to see Marama, Terangi escapes and is recaptured eight times. In his final break, he accidentally kills a guard.

On Manukura, all sympathize with him but the duty-bound DeLaage, who is determined to aid in his capture.

Terangi endures incredible hardships to get to Manukura and is picked up more dead than alive by Father Paul. Warned by him, he goes to Motu Tonga, where he is reunited with Marama and sees his little daughter, Tita.

DeLaage orders an exhaustive search of the islands, but Terangi and his family take refuge in a subterranean cave.

DeLaage commandeers Nagle's schooner and sets out in the teeth of a howling gale to find them. Warnings that it is foolhardy madness to venture forth in the storm go unheeded.

Warns His People
Terangi, noting unmistakable signs of "the great storm that overturns the land," crosses the raging lagoon with his family to warn the people of Manukura.

With the gale a raging demon now, natives and whites prepare as best they can to withstand the onslaught of the sea. Terangi lashes Marama, Tita and Madame DeLaage to a tall Parau tree. Most of the others take refuge in the church with Father Paul. Tavi, the storekeeper, his family and Dr. Kersaint trust their fate to a reef boat anchored to a palm stump.

Steadily the sea gains in its battle with the land. Huts are swept away. The church is swept beneath a swirling flood of dark waters. The tall Parau tree totters, crashes and is swept across the angry lagoon.

Dawn breaks on a scene of utter desolation. Only the reef boat still rides off the shore of ravaged Manukura. Its occupants apparently the sole survivors.

On a low spit of ground, the Parau tree has landed and all have miraculously survived the ordeal of the night. Terangi has found a canoe washed up by the storm. When DeLaage's schooner is sighted on the horizon, Madame DeLaage urges Terangi to escape. Knowing she cannot survive long alone, he first starts a signal fire. Then he puts off with his wife and child.

"Only A Floating Log"

The signal brings DeLaage to a happy reunion with his wife. He sees the canoe bearing out to sea, but in answer to the appeal of his wife's eyes, he agrees with her that it is "only a floating log," and Terangi and his family are free to sail to new life and freedom.

The two mystery films, "Under Suspicion," with Jack Holt, and "The Patient in Room 18," with Patric Knowles and Ann Sheridan, conclude tonight at the Grand.

The Friday and Saturday feature there is Buck Jones' western story, "Boss of Lonely Valley."

EDUCATION BAR TO DICTATORS

State School Chief Points
To Need of Funds To Carry On

NEW WATERFORD, Feb. 17.—E. N. Dietrick of Columbus, director of education in Ohio, addressed 350 school teachers and members of boards of education coming under the jurisdiction of County Supt. W. E. Roberts, in the High school building here Wednesday night. Dietrick's talk followed a dinner at 6:30.

The director divided his talk, speaking first on school finance and then instruction.

He said that the public school systems need more financial aid than they are getting at present. In Michigan, he said by way of comparison, the percentage from the various taxes which goes into the school funds is greater than it is in Ohio.

When the sales tax was lifted on foodstuffs, he continued, the state school system lost between twelve and fourteen million dollars. Ten million dollars recently was set aside out of tax money for relief purposes. The schools needed part of this, Dietrick explained.

Pointing to the dangers of dictatorships of foreign countries, Dietrick said that "if we must maintain a democracy in the United States, we must educate the people who are to take part in it."

"There are no democracies in the dictatorial nations because the people there are not sent to school where they can learn the principles of democracy. Here we educate our boys and girls and our older youths how to behave in a democracy. Over there they don't know how."

Women college graduates are much less apt to get into trouble than men with the same education, the statistics indicate. Compared with 67 men in the penitentiary and at the London prison farm with degrees, there was only one woman with college training in the Marysville reformatory.

In 1933 the penitentiary had 147 men with incomplete college training, 860 high school graduates and 342 illiterates. MOUNTAIN GOES ON 12-FOOT SLIDE

But Heavy Snows Block Gold Prospecting In Huge Fissure

(United Press)
YERINGTON, Nev.—Heavy winter snows have blocked further prospecting for gold in the huge fissure created by Nevada's "moving mountain."
Linford Riley, manager of the local electric power company, and Leo Osborne, rancher, announced finding of a pocket of gold ore pan-ning $20 a ton in the crack created by the sliding mountain, estimated to be twice as large as the famous one in Los Angeles' Elysian Park.
"We were prospecting along the crack caused by the movement," Riley said, "and came across the pocket of ore on the side of the fault 10 feet below the surface. When we tried to trail the ore above the crack, we lost track of it. We were afraid to dig around too much for fear the mountain would start sliding some more and trap us."
The mountain, an unnamed flank of isolated, 7,440-foot Mt. Elma, is located in the Mono National Forest 23 miles south of Yerington and only a short distance from the Pinegrove mining district, credited with a $9,000,000 production since 1866.
The moving flank was described by Riley as 500 yards long and 250 yards wide, extending to depths of 30 yards. It was estimated the volume of more than 3,000,000 tons of earth and rock had made a slide of 12 feet along a natural "chute," caused by water seeping in along a 45-degree flaw.
Extending in horseshoe shape around the mountain was the fissure, averaging 15 feet in width and 20 feet in depth. Before cave-ins occurred along the sides, the main fissure was 100 feet deep in places.
Probably there will be no more sliding until the rains and snows start the water seeping again," Riley predicted. "The mountain is in such an isolated spot that it could drop 1,000 feet into the canyon and still cause no damage."

PHOTOS PROVE PAYING HOBBY

Wells Compares Early Practices With Those Of Modern Era

His interest in photography was maintained during succeeding years and at the beginning of the World war he was appointed a staff photographer to assist in compiling a governmental photographic record of the U. S. army training camps. He made many pictures in that capacity, photographing important American and foreign dignitaries who visited this country to inspect U. S. soldier training camps and activities.

For a time he was with the American Expeditionary forces in Europe. During that period he carried two cameras and made several hundred negatives in the trenches and at the front.

Wells, while a teacher in several southern Ohio high schools, made nearly all class pictures and still has several annuals containing his work. He has done considerable photography for colleges, of their activities, and for conventions, national and state assemblies of various types.

Has Extensive Collection
He has an extensive collection of negatives of pictures taken in practically every state in the country, besides several provinces in Canada and seven European countries. His pictures have been purchased for rotogravure use by nationally known papers. His work has been used by several magazines published for camera enthusiasts.

Pictures taken by Wells have brought him a number of first and second place awards in contests and competitions, as well as honorable mention placings for excellency of work and pictorial merit in others.

During the last two years his work attracted the attention of the Royal Photographic society of London, England. The group extended him an invitation to membership. He also has been extended membership in American Photographic society, which is composed only of photographers well known for technical and pictorial merit in their work.

Wells says he finds motion pictures interesting to work with, but he takes greater interest in still photography. He works in lighting, portrait and figure studies, still life, landscape and scenic photography.

Wells explained that he is much more interested in the more difficult phases of photography. He is an authorized press photographer.

Good Equipment Important
Wells pointed out that although the "tools of the trade," good equipment, are important to good photography, the finest precision cameras and accessories today will not take the place of technical skill and the knowledge of subjects and lighting. The photographer, he further explained, must see his picture before it is taken, as an artist must see his painting before he has applied a half dozen strokes to the canvas.

"Modern cameras, even the simplest ones, can turn out good work in the hands of an experienced operator, and of course, more complicated cameras, correctly used, will do better work, more easily, because of the many intricate adjustments and the high type lenses made for difficult and special effects."

Wells expressed the opinion that "no serious work can ever be attempted with a box camera, except one of the reflex type with some focusing adjustments." He uses a battery of cameras for his work and has extensive valuable equipment, which has "paid for itself," both financially and in the enjoyment Wells has working with it.

Wells believes it is unnecessary for beginners to think that elaborate equipment is needed to develop roll film, a kind especially suited to traveling, he has found.

Used Simple Equipment
His developing equipment, during the war, Wells recalled, included a small pocket thermometer, two small trays, a measuring graduate, half a dozen film clips, a flashlight and a few packages of chemicals.

That was the extent of supplies necessary for developing films, which he did the night after they were exposed. For dark rooms he used German dugouts. More than 3,500 prints were sold from those dug-out developed films after the armistice and Wells' return to America.

Now Wells has a complete laboratory in his home, equipment including a battery of enlargers, tanks, electric printers and timers.

Photography, he says, is a most interesting, and often profitable hobby and he "would trade it for only one other—traveling—and that only if he could take a camera along."

Mob Riots, Burns Building in Lynching Attempt

Tia Juana rioters batter on federal building door

Demolishing a jail, firing a federal building and exchanging bullets with soldiers, a mob of 800 men and women were frustrated in an attempt to lynch a man held in Tia Juana, Mexico, for attacking and killing an eight-year-old girl. One of the mob is pictured kicking on the door of the federal building before the structure was fired by the rioters. The prisoner was a young soldier, said to have confessed the slaying of Olga Comacho. Soldiers prevented his seizure by the mob.

ASK HITLER TO RETURN FAVORS

Austria Sends Its Demands To Chief of Nazis

(By Associated Press)

VIENNA, Feb. 17.—Austria served notice today she expected Germany's Fuehrer Hitler to fulfill promises of the Hitler-Schuschnigg agreement, in the same measure as did the Austrians by naming cabinet ministers acceptable to Germany and by granting amnesty to Austrian political prisoners.

Officially inspired newspaper statements declared that Hitler in his address to the Reichstag Sunday should guarantee Austrian independence—directly and not incidentally.

Should he avoid this direct pledge, the feeling here is that Austria would consider Germany as having acted in bad faith regarding the Hitler-Schuschnigg negotiations at Berchtesgaden.

Carries Demands to Berlin
Arthur Seyss-Inquart, new Austrian minister of the interior who is favorable to Germany and whose appointment was approved by Hitler, carried Chancellor Schuschnigg's ideas on the subject to Berlin today.

He left Vienna last night by cabinet order to inform Hitler that Austria has laid new foundations for prosperous cooperation between the two states, and that the Austrian government now expects Germany to do her share.

The first gestures of cooperation by Hitler are expected to include: Strict orders to the German press to treat Austria henceforth as her "German brother."

Dissolution of all Nazi clubs in Germany which supported the Austrian Nazi movement—the Nazi party has been outlawed in Austria, but membership in the Fatherland Front, Austria's only legal party, is to become available in an effort to maintain internal peace. Austrian Nazis expect that their party soon may be legalized.

Lowering of foreign exchange barriers, to permit German tourists again to enjoy Austrian resorts.

Act to Cut Unemployment
Participation by Austrian industry and agriculture in German Field Marshal General Herman Goering's four-year plan for economic sufficiency. This, it was expected, would reduce Austrian unemployment.

Investment of German capital in Austrian business.

The new foundations laid by Austria included:
The cabinet reorganization by which Chancellor Schuschnigg selected Seyss-Inquart, friend of Hitler; two men called sympathetic to Germany, and two nationalists.

Amnesty for political prisoners, which Nazis said affected some 3,200 persons, 54 of them involved in the unsuccessful putsch which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in 1934.

The two major steps stemmed from talks between Schuschnigg and Hitler at Berchtesgaden last Saturday, talks which the Austrian foreign office emphasized led to new agreements to restore Austro-German strength in accordance with the agreement of July 11, 1936, wherein Austria's independence was assured.

The Austrian press held that the Hitler-endorsed minister was not a Nazi in the German sense, but a good Austrian who repeatedly had demanded maintenance of the nation's political sovereignty.

WITNESS SAYS G-M GAVE FUNDS
Contributed $25,000 To Davey Campaign, Says Lee Bradley

Bradley wanted "to make it plain" that he had no business dealings with Davey. "my dealings were all political," he said.

"How much did Davey give you for your New York trip?" Metzbaum asked.

"I can't tell you exactly what it was—he would hand it out in $100 or $200 chunks," Bradley replied.

Then the Cleveland salesman went on to say he "always had $200" in his bank account at the start of each week, that it was kept at a $200 level after depletions during the week.

Bradley asserted Trampier said "everything's agreeable" and added $25,000 would be paid to Governor Davey's campaign fund by General Motors.

How to Handle Money
"But how should I handle the money?" Bradley quoted Trampier as saying.

"Davey told Trampier: 'I have a very dear and near political friend in Ohio who will handle all my funds,' the witness continued.

"Who is that?" Trampier asked.

At this point, the salesman related, Davey pulled a slip of paper from his pocket and handed it to Trampier.

"That piece of paper had the name of Francis W. Poulson," Bradley said.

Got $9,000 From Poulson
Bradley asserted he ceased dealing directly with Davey in December, 1934, when Davey "turned me over" to Poulson.

"Did you receive any funds from Poulson?"

"Pretty near $9,000."

"At regular intervals?"

"I received about $400 monthly. The payments continued until about December, 1936."

"Why did they cease?"

"I went down to Columbus one day, Poulson said there was a lot of talk around that Davey was connected with public utilities. I told him. He can't deny that, and Poulson said:

"We've been paying you money and we didn't think you would broadcast down here."

"I said, 'You're paying me because you are afraid I'll expose you.'"

Bradley added he had received no payments since that time.

Covered 22 States
Questioned by Metzbaum regarding public utilities, Bradley said:

"I carried on negotiations with utilities for Governor Davey for nine months. I covered 22 states."

"What were you trying to do for Davey?"

"Making arrangements for campaign contributions."

"Did you give Davey the results of your trips?"

"Yes, I made written reports two or three times a week. I have copies of those reports."

Questioned whether he had received any additional money, Bradley said he received an automobile from an East Cleveland agency.

"Did you pay for it?"

"No; it was arranged by Poulson and another party in Columbus. I have a picture of the car. If you want it, and the phone bill of sale, it was a gift."

SCOUTS FOLLOW TRAINING TREK TO FIND IVORY

Big League Clubs Head South With Scouts Close Behind

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Feb. 17. — Baseball clubs led by the Giants, have begun their annual excursion to the sunny South, and that morbid, skeptical soul, the diamond scout, won't be far behind.

All winter he has dreamed of plucking another Christy Mathewson or Joe DiMaggio from under the very noses of his rival sleuths and winning the ever-lasting gratitude of a rich club owner.

Now and then, of course, he has awakened sweating from a nightmare in which the brilliant discovery whose purchase he recommended for a record price of $200,000 developed a tragic distaste for curve balls.

Seldom will one of them get in the news. Not one of the youngsters who will be coveting in spring camps in the coming weeks will be referred to as the valuable discovery of Scout "Eagle-Eye" Schultz, yet nearly every one of them will be there because some diamond shrewlark thought he had the makings.

Since clubs like the Yankees began paying out $300,000 annually in salaries and "farm" systems became a part of the pastime, less is left to chance. The country's promising young ball players are pretty well hand-picked. Still, it is the scout who must pass final judgment.

Chief Scout Paul Krichell of the Yankees receives more than 1,000 letters every year tipping him off to potential Babe Ruths or from the youngsters, themselves, asking for a trial. Krichell or one of his staff will get around to looking them over.

The average of pay dirt is painfully low. Only about one out of every 100 players scouted will be deemed worthy of a big league trial. Andy Coakley, veteran coach at Columbia university, who used to do some scouting in his spare time, tells of a two-day trip he took into the West Virginia hills to see a catcher.

"It was a terrible trip," said Andy. "I must have ridden six different times before I finally landed. And when I got there this catcher was without doubt the worst in the history of the game."

"On the other hand, when I was younger, I went up to Elmira once to pitch a game and I saw a kid named Grover Cleveland Alexander. I'll swear he was as good as he ever was. I was crazy about him and he was going to tip him off to John McGraw, but they told me Alex belonged to Philadelphia, so I didn't say anything to McGraw. It turned out later that Alex, at that time, wasn't signed by anybody. That's the scouting game."

Chance for Title

Carmen Barth

Olympic champion in 1932, Carmen Barth of Cleveland will get his chance to win the world's middleweight championship Feb. 19 when he meets Freddie Steele in Cleveland. Barth is a stablemate of Henry Armstrong, world's heavyweight champion, who is managed by Eddie Mead.

Louis Is Scheduled For Another Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Joe Louis has agreed to defend his heavyweight title for the second time before he meets "dat man Smellin'" again.

The Bomber will meet the winner of Friday night's bout between Harry Thomas of Chicago and Jimmy Adamic of Detroit on April 8. If Thomas wins over the Detroit, the bout will be held in Chicago, and if Adamic wins, it will go to Detroit. Louis fights Nathan Mann of New Haven here Wednesday night.

Julian Black, one of Louis' managers, and Mike Jacobs, head of the 20th Century Sporting club, made arrangements for the bout yesterday. Mike Lewis, Thomas' pilot, says the bout would mean a sell-out at Chicago stadium.

DENISON COPS LOOP TRIUMPH

Big Red Gains 2nd Win In Ohio Conference by Downing Oberlin

(By Associated Press)
A second period drive brought Denison's Big Red its second Ohio conference victory of the season last night while Oberlin was thrown for a fourth loop loss in five encounters by a score of 47 to 38.

The Yeomen led at the half, 27 to 24. Denison tied the count at 36-all eight minutes before the curtain, and then moved steadily forward. Forward Alan McNeill of Denison paced the individual scorers with 13 points.

Detroit Tech won at Toledo, taking a 42 to 34 contest from De Sales college. Detroit was out front at the intermission, 23 to 18. Athletic Director and Head Coach Cam Henderson said Marshall's baffling cage quintet, undefeated to date in Buckeye conference competition, would participate in the national intercollegiate basketball tournament at Kansas City March 7-12—provided President James E. Allen of the Huntington school approved.

Tournament officials invited Marshall to represent an area including West Virginia and sections of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

C. VAUGHAN, B. BLUBAUGH COP LEAD IN DOUBLES

Electric Furnace Duo Hits 1230 To Take Over Top Position In Bowling Event

Leaders in Singles Event of City Handicap Tenpin Tournament Remain Unmolested; Vaughn Takes Lead In All-Events

Leaders in the singles event of the annual City Handicap Tenpin tournament remained unmolested at the Grate Recreation alleys last night, but it was a different story in the doubles as Curt Vaughan and Bernard Blubaugh of the Electric Furnace team of the Federal league pulled to the front on a 1230 score.

Given a 210-pin handicap, Vaughn rolled 522 and Blubaugh 498 to take over the lead in the two-man event, replacing Merle (Red) White and Charlie Wernet, who had held first place since Monday night when they turned in an 1197 score.

One other change was made in the doubles leaders, this moving the team of Charles Huffer and Merle White into fifth place and showing C. Bonds and Glenn Whitman, who hit 1168 Monday, down to sixth position. Huffer and White, granted 96 free pins, hit 1174, the former chalking up a 544 series and the latter 534.

The Rafferty brothers, Dale and Jack, went into seventh place in the doubles event on an 1167 score, while included a 129-pin handicap. Dale turned in a 535 series and Jack a 503. Jim Jackson and Ralph Gregg moved into eighth position by hitting 1156. Granted only 54 free pins, Jackson rolled 548 and Gregg 554 to record their eighth place score.

Other marks above 1100 recorded in the doubles were made by John Carpenter and Mayor George Harroff, who hit 1104; Campbell and Best mark in the singles was turned in by Walt Hillbrand of the Grate Recreation team of the Commercial league, who hit 684 to tie for fifth place with Curt Shepard and Jack Ballantine.

Hillbrand's score, which included a 57-pin handicap, is far below the top mark in the singles—a 687 by Clyde White. Other singles scores above 600 last night were turned in by Vaughan, 623; Jim Smith, 622; Paul Loudon, 621, and John Carpenter, 610.

Because bowlers on the first and second shifts took more than their allotted time to roll their doubles and singles scores, the contestants on the late shift were unable to roll in the singles event.

In addition to moving into first place in the doubles, Vaughan also went into the lead in the all-events with an 1824 total. He replaced Glenn Whinnery, who lists 1800 as his all-events score.

Greenskeepers Attempt To Solve Problems In Meeting

Men Who Take Care of Golf Links Hold Annual Get-Together To Discuss New Ideas

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17.—The greenskeepers of the country met here today to figure out ways and means to keep the golfers in good humor.

The job calls for diplomacy and a knowledge of how to fight the Japanese beetle, said members of the American Association of Greenskeepers, which will be known in the future as the Greenskeeping Superintendents' association. "The name was changed by the convention yesterday."

10,000 FAIL TO MAKE RETURNS

Employers Neglect to List Taxable Wages of Workers

More than 10,000 employers in the Ohio district of the United States collector of internal revenue have failed to file informational returns under the Social Security act due at this time.

This was reported today by representatives of the collector's office in Cleveland. More than 42,000 employers in this district have been submitting monthly tax returns under the old-age insurance portion of the Social Security act. Under the law all are required to file informational returns showing the taxable wages paid employees who are covered by the Social Security act.

These informational returns for the last half of 1937 are now due. The reports are used as the basis for computing benefits which will be paid later to workers in covered occupations. Employers are advised to file the returns at once in compliance with the Social Security act.

Hereafter a joint payment of old-age insurance contributions and an informational return covering an individual wage taxable wages are being reported must be filed quarterly. The first contribution report and informational return covering the months of January, February and March, 1938, are due not later than March 30 at the collector's office.

BETTER BUY BUICK ON EASY GENERAL MOTORS TERMS

WEIGH the new cars dispassionately in the light of what they offer and the facts stand boldly forth as these:

Buick is the ONLY car on the market today offering the efficiency of valve-in-head straight-eight design—modernized with the phenomenally efficient new DYNAFLASH principle of combustion.

Buick is the only car your money can buy with the marvel-ride of TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—springs of stout, shock-smothering coiled steel that lessen skid-risks, lengthen tire life, actually make the whole car more directable.

Buick is the only car with the safety-security of Unisteel Body by Fisher—plus the blessed quiet and peace of Silent Zone Body Mounting.

Buick is admittedly the best looking car on the market—chosen as such by popular vote with a greater margin over its nearest competitor than any other cars enjoys!

Buick's performance is easily the most outstanding on the road—for soaring, thrilling lift and power it doffs its hat to no other car even approaching it in size and comfort.

Such are the facts, and on them you can well decide, "Better buy Buick!"

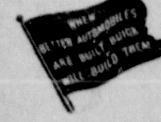

But they do not end the tale. There are two points dealing with figures still needed to complete the full picture of Buick value:

—Buick is not only the lowest-priced straight-eight of its size on the market

—But Buick actually lists at lower figures than do some sixes!

Check the facts, check the figures. We know where you'll find yourself in the end.

In a Buick dealer's showroom getting the dope on his easy terms!

"Women In Love" by May Christie

SYNOPSIS

When her father's bank fails, Ann DeLafayette decides to help the family exchequer by going to work. She obtains employment as "comparison-shopper"—buying competitors' products to compare with those of Barclay & Wells, a large department store, for which she works. Ann is attracted to handsome Paul Bradley, the merchandise manager, who hired her. He is her idea of a real man compared with the young wastrels in her society set. Brenda Salz, the gift shop buyer and Ann's superior, who loves Paul in vain, is jealous of Ann. On her first day at business, Ann meets an old admirer, Gordon Gavin. Gordon's father was ruined in the crash and committed suicide, and the former playboy is now an advertisement writer for Barclay & Wells. Renita Parrish, another employee, sees Gordon and Ann lunching together and glares at them. Following his father's death, Gordon dropped his rich friends and had found Renita balm for his loneliness. He now regrets that he ever encouraged her. At another table, Ann sees Bradley watching her. Brenda ridicules Ann when she turns over to the buyer the fruits of her first shopping tour—a fitted pouch-bag and two novelty bracelets. However, the costume jewelry buyer is enthusiastic over the bracelets and, at the advertising conference that afternoon, they and the bag, go over with a bang. Brenda is furious. At a society masked ice-carnival for charity, Ann is singled out from the crowd by a tall man who skated perfectly. There was something magnetic about him and she refused to let anyone cut in.

"We shall rest now. You deserve a glass of champagne. A present for a good little girl."

less, but fraught with dangerous chances! Wasn't it his definite policy never to mix social relations with business?

How much more, would it annoy him—nay, antagonize him—to realize that he had kissed one of the employees of his own store!

Instead of putting up her stock with him, professionally or politically speaking, it would demote her. He would think that she had recognized him, despite mask and domino, from the beginning and deliberately flirted with him. Used the vamping tactics that Brenda Salz, the Gift Shop buyer, had warned her against. Why, he might be so chagrined that he would even fire her!

Goodby, Comparison-Shopper! Adieu, career!

These thoughts flashed through her mind as, from behind the safety of her mask, she looked into the handsome dark eyes of her partner.

But Ann would not have been human had she not thrilled to the sheer drama of the situation.

She felt tinglingly alive. And not from the champagne alone.

"If I could only make him fall in love with me!" her heart clamored.

"Careful, Ann! Careful!" her brain cautioned.

But this chance might never come again. Couldn't daring and safety measures be combined?

With a swift movement and a gay laugh she pulled his mask back where it belonged over the upper part of his face, telling him that curiosity killed the cat, and she was sorry for her boldness! And his!

"But I'm dying of curiosity!" he protested, making as though to remove her own mask.

In the nick of time she drew back. Laughing, she pulled his hands away.

"So you admit the awful fact that men and cats are like each other? Hooryay!"

"How so?"

"Because a man and a cat will both fly away from you if you attempt to hold them too tightly. They can't stand mauling. But ignore a cat—or a man—and he'll come around fairly pestering you for attention. Begging for petting!" concluded Ann positively.

Paul Bradley gave a hearty laugh. He was amused.

"Can't you see I'm sitting up on my hind legs at this minute?"

"No. That's a dog's prerogative. A dog's always grateful for a kind word or a bone. A dog's like a woman. Women snap up compliments, oh! so gratefully, begging for more, but men are frightfully suspicious of compliments, suspecting the ulterior motive."

"Where did you learn this marvelous psychology, at your tender age?"

"At the University of Hard Knocks," she rejoined pertly.

"Now what on earth do you know about me?" daringly ventured Ann. "That you're charming, and witty, and I'm sure awfully pretty if only you'd take off that absurd mask you're wearing."

"Ha! Thanks, kind sir! Am I supposed to gratefully snap up that bone?"

"Now why on earth must you compare yourself to a dog?"

"For the aforementioned reasons, and also that you and I may have the pleasure of scrapping together! I see so plainly in you the serene self-assurance of Puss-On-the-Hearth!"

"Not on the hearth. Just off the ice, and dying for warmth."

"In New York City, with its surplus females, there must be loads of little fires where you can warm yourself at." She added provocatively: "Provided you're not settled for life at one little family hearth?"

Her heart beat fast, awaiting his reply. Suppose he were married—or as good as married?

"No. I'm all alone."

"Lonesome? Ho! That old gag!" "Don't you know—" he caught her wrist—"that cats hate having cold water thrown on them?"

"And love to wander out at nights in search of adventure!" she supplemented, laughing.

"They hate to be rubbed the wrong way, as you're deliberately doing, you bad girl!"

"But I adore cats."

"I'm glad. Do you hear me purring?"

"There goes your feline vanity again!"

"I'm vain because I've found the most piquant little partner in the Carnival. Let's drink to her," he suggested, filling Ann's glass and his own, and tilting his up.

They drank their champagne. The band broke into a lilting melody. Behind the sympathetic screen of Mrs. Paul Bradley moved closer to Ann.

"Do you know, it was a toss-up whether I'd come here or not tonight? But I'm grateful I yielded."

"Who asked you?" The question had been simmering in her mind for the past hour. Who was responsible for his appearance at the Carnival?

"Naturally, a beautiful girl."

Her heart sank. He continued: "I dropped into an absurd version of the ex-speakeasy with a name which should appeal to your anthropological mind. Not a dog nor a cat, this time, but a pig! Le Cochon Qui Rit! A blonde girl sold me a ticket for this charity and here I am."

"Bernice!" thought Ann quickly. "What's she look like?" she asked, trying to sound nonchalant.

Red Cross Head Dies

Admiral Cary T. Grayson

American Red Cross officials and its friends mourned the death of Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the organization. Admiral Grayson, 59, was a close friend of President Roosevelt and White House physician during the terms of Woodrow Wilson.

"Like Circe with the swine around her. They were climbing up the walls, and their faces were half-human."

"Nonsense. You were seeing things. You must really go on the water wagon. Give me that glass of champagne," Ann said with mock severity.

KENNEDY SOON TO BE ON JOB

New Ambassador Likely To Begin Work Early Next Month

(By United Press)
LONDON—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy will be welcomed to the Court of St. James by British officials and by American residents in England with unusual warmth.

Admittedly, the new American ambassador will face more and bigger problems than any diplomat in recent years. That is one reason his appointment was so welcome here. He is considered to be particularly well qualified to meet these issues, although without previous diplomatic experience. That last fact might even be to his advantage, it is argued in some quarters.

Kennedy will present his credentials to King George personally within a few days after his arrival, the time to be at the king's convenience.

King Receives Embassy Staff
Court procedure specifies that the marshal of the diplomatic corps shall take the new ambassador to Buckingham palace in a town coach. The personnel of the embassy follows in other town coaches, all of which draw up at the grand entrance of the palace, where they are met by the master of the household.

The embassy personnel waits while the master of the household and the marshal of the diplomatic corps conduct the ambassador to an inner room where he is presented to the secretary of state for foreign affairs and the lord-in-waiting to the king. Then the lord-in-waiting and the marshal of the diplomatic corps conduct the ambassador into the royal presence, announce him and leave him alone with the king.

Later the personnel of the embassy is presented to the king, after which all depart. Such audiences usually are at 11 a. m. and morning clothes are the proper attire.

Faces Four Major Problems
When these formalities are ended Kennedy will be ready to tackle the important problems of his job, including:

1. Anglo-American trade agreement.

2. International currency stabilization.

3. Protection of Anglo-American interests in the Far East.

4. World rearmament.

Kennedy's reputation as an authority on business has preceded him here. With the trade pact in the immediate offing, British experts will be glad to deal with a man experienced in trade and finance on a large scale.

Americans in London are confident the new ambassador's personality will carry him far in diplomacy. It is believed here that Kennedy's reputation as a "good fellow"
